A final option: Take a distribution in cash

You can decide to take the money out of your plan. Taking a distribution in cash means you will have some money to spend right now, but this option can come with a price. For example, you will lose the ability to grow your savings on a tax-advantaged basis. In addition, your distribution may also be subject to state and federal taxes, including a mandatory 20% federal withholding. If you are under age 59½, a 10% early withdrawal penalty may also apply.

Taking a distribution of shares of company stock may lower taxes, if eligible. If you are thinking about cashing out, be sure to factor in these penalties and consider if you would be better off keeping your money invested for the long term. Please consult with your tax advisor for additional information.
